A: THE DEPARTMENT

The Anthropology Department at Durham [<http://www.dur.ac.uk/anthropology>] provides a vigorous and intellectually exciting environment for learning and research in all areas of the discipline. It is one of the very few anthropology departments in the UK that deals with both biological and social areas of the subject; with more than 30 permanent members of academic staff we are also one of the UK's largest. We are particularly interested in interdisciplinary teaching and research that connects across the bio-social boundary. Examples include the evolution of humans, culture and cognition, medical anthropology, and the socio-cultural contexts of development and conservation.

The Department of Anthropology is located on "the science site" in the recently refurbished Dawson Building, which is next to the main library and the Palatine Centre, the newly-built central services building.

The department's contact details are:

B: DEGREE STRUCTURE AND ASSESSMENT

All undergraduate degrees at Durham have a modular structure, consisting of six different modules each academic year for three years. Modules are usually studied over all three terms of the teaching year. The terms at Durham are: Michaelmas from October to mid-December (10 weeks of teaching), Epiphany from mid-January to mid-March (9 weeks of teaching), and Easter from the end of April to mid-May (3-4 weeks of teaching).

Modules are examined or assessed in the year in which they are taught, during the year and/or during a dedicated exam period that takes place from the end of May to the middle of June. At the end of the first year there are preliminary examinations that do not contribute to the final degree class, which is determined by the assessments and examinations taken only in the second and third year of study.

Incoming Erasmus+ students often wish to study at Durham only during the Michaelmas term, but in this case it is impossible for the university to provide housing, so we do not encourage this. It is far more beneficial to study with us for a period of at least two terms. Assessments for modules will sometimes be modified from those given to our full-year students to suit the shorter length of your programme of study. However, you will always have some form of assessment and the marks will be passed on to your home university a few months after you leave.

Students opting to study at Durham for a full academic year are expected to submit the same assessments as those pursuing their full degrees at Durham, and to sit exams in May-June, like other full-time Durham students. These marks will be conveyed back to your home institution after the Board of Examiners meets in the middle of June. The marks will be processed first by the department and then the university's central administration, after which they will be sent to your university (approximately 1-2 months later). Unfortunately, we cannot speed up the process on your behalf, so please make sure your home institution is aware of the timeline that we must adhere to under these circumstances.

C: REQUIREMENTS AND RESTRICTIONS

This section contains important information for setting up your academic programme at Durham University.
Please read through this section carefully before considering your modules and filling in the Learning Agreement!

C1: General

Choice of Modules

IMPORTANT NOTE FOR STUDENTS: PLEASE READ BEFORE COMPLETING YOUR LEARNING AGREEMENT

At Durham University Erasmus+ study abroad exchange agreements are signed by individual university departments; they are not university-wide agreements. This means that, in general, students will have to choose modules (courses) within the Durham University host department through which the Erasmus+ agreement with their home university has been signed (students should check with the Erasmus Coordinator in their university if they are not sure which department this is). Modules offered by other departments are subject to availability and can only be taken with prior consent from the relevant department. Incoming students must take at least 51% of their modules in the host department and can take modules outside in no more than two additional departments. Certain restrictions may also apply to some courses and students need to follow the advice below carefully before completing their Learning Agreements.

Please clearly indicate the modules you wish to take on your Learning Agreement (included in your application package) for approval by the respective department(s). Before completing your Learning Agreement, it is very important that you read carefully the relevant departmental section(s) of the ECTS Handbook to check which modules are available to you and any restrictions which may apply. It is imperative that a properly completed Learning Agreement is submitted as part of the application form. Only complete applications can be processed.

Section D: Module Details below provides a list of modules available for Erasmus+ students in the department where the agreement has been established (receiving department) as well as a list of modules available for students coming in through other departments (external departments). Please choose from these modules only!

To find out about the details for each module (teaching methods and contact hours, prerequisite academic background, method of assessment, content, etc.) please refer to the Faculty Handbook online under:

<http://www.dur.ac.uk/faculty.handbook/>

C2: Departmental Requirements and Restrictions

The Department has no specific requirements for incoming Erasmus+ students, but we will assess every application individually.

When choosing modules, you should be aware that some have evolutionary anthropology content and some have social anthropology content. Also, when wishing to study 2nd or 3rd year modules, you will need to have knowledge of the relevant anthropology at the introductory (1st year) level. If you lack previous background in either of these areas, you are welcome to contact the Erasmus Coordinator for advice on whether particular modules are suitable.

If the departmental coordinator has concerns about the modules you choose to study at Durham, you might be contacted directly to discuss your choices. New choices can be made upon your arrival, but it is preferable to avoid this, if at all possible. However, it does happen and we can accommodate new choices if your interests have changed or you find timetabling conflicts.

D: MODULE DETAILS

This section contains a list of modules that Erasmus+ students can choose from. Please only select from the modules listed in sections D1 or D2 in this ECTS Handbook!

We are currently in the process of changing our list of modules offered at Level 2 and Level 3, and the information provided here is correct at time of publication (February 2023). To find further details for each module (teaching methods and contact hours, prerequisite academic background, method of assessment, content, etc.) please refer to the Faculty Handbook online under: <http://www.dur.ac.uk/faculty.handbook/>

ANTH2141	GLOBAL HEALTH AND DISEASE	EVO /SOC	20	Y
ANTH2051	POLITICS AND ECONOMICS	SOCIAL	20	Y
ANTH2161	KINSHIP AND RELIGION	SOCIAL	20	Y

* This means that these modules may be taken by students coming to Durham for one or two terms only. Alternative assessment will be offered for these modules. Official grades will, however, not be given on the official Durham transcript but on an additional document produced for home universities.

YEAR 3

Level 3 modules are advanced courses in different subject areas of evolutionary, medical, and social anthropology. Each module runs over the course of a single term (either Michaelmas or Epiphany). In most cases these modules require at least two years prior study of the relevant sub-discipline (social, evolutionary, or health anthropology). While the content changes yearly, in 2022/23 students were able to select from some of the following titles (all are subject to change):

Michaelmas:Evolutionary/Biological/Bio-health

- Evolutionary Medicine: Maternal and Infant Health
- Evolution of Cooperation
- Palaeoanth & Paleoecology

Social-cultural/Socio-health

- Climate Change Survival
- Anthropology of Sport
- Anthropology of the Body
- Anthropology of Tobacco
- Anthropology of Data and Quantification
- Exhibiting Anthropology

Epiphany:Evolutionary/Biological/Bio-health

- Food Security, Nutrition and Sustainable Livelihoods
- Forensic Anthropology
- Evolution of Music
- The Sex Lives of Primates [register for: ANTH3907 Specialised Aspects of Evolutionary Anthropology 6 (10 Credits)]

Social-cultural/Socio-health

- Anthropology, Art, and Experience
- Anthropology of Ethics and Morality
- Mediterranean Connections
- Energy, Extraction, and Env Politics [register for: ANTH 3917 Specialised Aspects of Social Anthropology 2 (10 Credits)]

Cross-field

Decolonising Anthropology

Suitably qualified students, usually those at postgraduate level, may also be able to select modules offered to MA/MSc Anthropology students at Durham. More details of our postgraduate programmes and modules can be found at:

<http://www.dur.ac.uk/anthropology/postgraduate/taught/>

Please contact the Departmental Erasmus and Study Abroad Coordinator if you wish to be considered for this option, to determine if you have the appropriate background knowledge.

D2: Modules for Erasmus+ students coming on an EXTERNAL link (through a different department)

For students with no prior knowledge of Anthropology, there are three Year 1 modules available. They may also be suitable for students coming through a direct link.

Students who already possess a background in Anthropology should refer to section D1 (above) for a more appropriate choice of modules. Although the Year 1 modules below can also be made available to students with some prior experience of Anthropology, this is ordinarily only where the subject area (e.g. evolutionary anthropology) is not taught at the student's home institution.

MODULE CODE	MODULE TITLE	SUBJECT AREA	DURHAM CREDITS	AVAILABLE TO 1 OR 2 TERM STUDENTS*
ANTH 1091	HUMAN EVOLUTION AND DIVERSITY	EVO	20	Y
ANTH 1041	HEALTH, ILLNESS AND SOCIETY	EVO /SOC	20	Y
ANTH 1061	PEOPLE AND CULTURES	SOCIAL	20	Y

* This means that these modules may be taken by students coming to Durham for one or two terms only. Alternative assessment will be offered for these modules. Official grades will, however, not be given on the official Durham transcript but on an additional document produced for home universities.

Please note there is a large number of modules in the Faculty Handbook that are NOT available to exchange students

Modules not available to exchange students include the following

MODULE CODE	MODULE TITLE	SUBJECT AREA	DURHAM CREDITS	AVAILABLE TO 1 OR 2 TERM STUDENTS
ANTH 1111	BEING HUMAN	EVO/SOC	20	N
ANTH 1101	DOING ANTHROPOLOGICAL RESEARCH	EVO /SOC	20	N
ANTH 2131	ANTHROPOLOGY FIELD COURSE	EVO/SOC	20	N

The modules in the above table, and any others that are listed as being “tied” to the degrees L601 Anthropology, L602 Anthropology, B991 Health and Human Sciences or combined honours degrees (e.g. Archaeology and Anthropology, Anthropology and Sociology) are available only to students studying for the full three- or four-year degree at Durham.
