A: THE SCHOOL

The School comprises of the following departments:

ARABIC STUDIES CHINESE STUDIES FRENCH STUDIES
GERMAN STUDIES HISPANIC STUDIES ITALIAN STUDIES
JAPANESE STUDIES RUSSIAN STUDIES
VISUAL ARTS AND FILM
CENTRE FOR FOREIGN LANGUAGE STUDY

and is one of the largest sections of the University. In total at any one time there are approximately 1800 students taking courses in the School, around 700 of them studying for the BA in Modern Languages.

The School is located in Elvet Riverside, a group of modern university buildings situated on the bank of the River Wear between the ancient Elvet Bridge and the new Kingsgate footbridge, and within easy walking distance of the Colleges, the Cathedral and the Market Place. Most lectures, classes and tutorials take place in Elvet Riverside, which also houses a self-access and study area.

Our Centre for Foreign Language Study has around 2,500 students coming from all University departments taking credit-bearing modules or study Language for All classes (usually available in the evening for a payment of a supplementary subsidised course fee).

All the language departments in the School have their own student societies, which arrange excursions, invite speakers, produce plays, show films, hold parties and run other social events. There are also many college and university clubs and societies catering for all kinds of interests. Durham itself is a small cathedral city, and Newcastle-upon-Tyne with the shopping centres, cinemas, theatres, clubs and other facilities of a large urban centre is less than twenty minutes away by train.

B: DEGREE PROGRAMMES OFFERED

The School of Modern Languages and Cultures offers the following Honours degree:

BA Honours in Modern Languages and Cultures
BA Honours in Visual Arts and Film

The School also participates in the following degrees:

BA Honours in a Modern European Language and History
BA Honours in Liberal Arts
BA Honours in Combined Studies in Social Sciences

B1: Degree Structure

All degrees at Durham have a modular structure, consisting of six modules each year for three years. Modules are usually studied over all three terms of the teaching year. All modules are examined or assessed in the year in which they are taught: this means that at the end of the first year there are preliminary examinations, and that the final degree class is determined by the examinations taken in the second and third year.

The Honours in Modern Languages and Cultures degree course lasts four years with the third year spent abroad. In each of their years in Durham, students take six modules. Some of these modules will be compulsory core language modules. Each module stretches over the whole academic year, and is examined by one or both of coursework and exams.

C: REQUIREMENTS AND RESTRICTIONS

This section contains important information for setting up your academic programme at Durham University. Please read through this section carefully before considering your modules and filling in the Learning Agreement! Please note that Term 3 is mostly dedicated to exam sessions and no Exchange study placements can be arranged for this period only.

C1: General

Choice of Modules

IMPORTANT NOTE FOR STUDENTS: PLEASE READ BEFORE COMPLETING YOUR LEARNING AGREEMENT

At Durham University Exchange agreements are signed by individual university departments and are not university-wide agreements. This means that, in general, students will have to choose modules (courses) within the Durham University department through which the Exchange agreement with their home university has been signed (students should check with the Exchange Coordinator in their university if they are not sure which department this is). Modules offered by other departments are subject to availability and can only be taken with prior consent from the relevant department. Certain restrictions may also apply to courses in some departments and students need to follow the advice below carefully before completing their Learning Agreements.

Please clearly indicate the modules you wish to take on your Learning Agreement (included in your application package – see also European Incoming Exchange - Durham University for approval by the respective department(s). Before completing your Learning Agreement, it is very important that you read carefully the relevant departmental section(s) of the ECTS Handbook to check which modules are available to you and any restrictions which may apply. It is imperative that a properly completed Learning Agreement is submitted as part of the application form. Only complete applications can be processed.

Section D: Module Details provides a list of modules available for Exchange students in the department where the agreement has been established (receiving department) as well as a list of modules available for students coming in through other departments (external departments). Please choose from these modules only!

To find out about the details for each module (teaching methods and contact hours, prerequisite academic background, method of assessment, content, etc) please refer to the Faculty Handbook online under <http://www.dur.ac.uk/faculty.handbook/>.

C2: Departmental Requirements and Restrictions

The following modules listed under section D are available to incoming Exchange students coming to Durham through exchanges with Departments in the School of Modern Languages and Cultures and are subject to availability and qualifications. Many of our courses (apart from Beginners' language courses) require a certain level of proficiency in the language concerned. Please note that core language modules are not available to native speakers of the language concerned. Module choices will have to be confirmed with Exchange Departmental Co-ordinators at registration. Please note that modules through the Department of English Studies are not normally available to incoming Exchange students coming through exchanges organised by the School of Modern Languages & Cultures.

D: MODULE DETAILS

This section contains a list of modules Exchange students can choose from. Please only select from the modules listed in sections D1 or D2 in the ECTS Handbooks for each subject!

To find further details for each module (teaching methods and contact hours, prerequisite academic background, method of assessment, content, etc) please refer to the Faculty Handbook online under <http://www.dur.ac.uk/faculty.handbook/>

General information:

The Centre for Foreign Language Study (CFLS) elective language modules are taught over the full academic year from October to May.

Incoming exchange students may register to a maximum of two CFLS elective language modules. Only one of these modules may be at Beginners level.

Further information about the CFLS is available on the following website:

<http://www.dur.ac.uk/cfls/> .

Incoming exchange students arriving in October and leaving in December may only register for CFLS elective language modules by special arrangement, and will then be awarded 5 ECTS credits. Incoming exchange students arriving in January are not able to register for CFLS elective language modules.

The following modules are open to incoming exchange students under the above-mentioned conditions and subject to the module prerequisites, further information is available in the Faculty Handbook. Please note that Stage 1 modules are not open to incoming students staying for only one term.

An informal evaluation test may be conducted by the module convenor on student's arrival in order to ensure that the student has selected to study a language at the correct level. Those modules are all worth 10 ECTS.

Further information on these modules can be found at:

<http://www.dur.ac.uk/cfls/durhamstudents/>

D2: Modules available to incoming exchange students coming on an external link (through a different department)

It may be possible for incoming exchange students coming through other Departmental or School exchange agreements to study modules either offered by the School of Modern Languages & Cultures (MLAC - see section D) or the CFLS. However, the students should contact the relevant departmental Exchange Co-ordinator to obtain permission to study the module(s) they are interested in.
