Training Workshop Programme 2011

Maritime Boundary Delimitation

19-21 September 2011, Centre for International Law and the Faculty of Law, National University of Singapore

Develop the skills needed to achieve an equitable division of maritime space and clearly defined maritime boundaries through expert lectures, practical exercises and shared experience

INTRODUCTION

Clearly defined maritime boundaries are essential for good international relations and effective ocean management, yet few coastal states have agreed all their maritime boundaries with their neighbours. Part of the reason for this is that boundary delimitation requires a range of specialist legal and technical skills which are not always readily available to governments.

Combining lectures, discussions and practical exercises, IBRU's most popular workshop helps participants develop the skills needed to achieve an equitable division of maritime space and clearly defined maritime boundaries.

IBRU is delighted to be partnering with Centre for International Law and the NUS Faculty of Law in organising its first training workshop to be held in Asia.

Who should attend?

in the summer programme at the Rhodes Academy of Oceans Law & Policy in Rhodes, Greece.

Professor Robert Beckman, Director, Centre for International Law, National University of Singapore, heads the ocean law and policy programme as well as being Director of the Centre for International Law, a university-wide research centre at the National University of Singapore (NUS) established in 2009. Professor Beckman is also an Associate Professor at the NUS Faculty of Law, where he has taught for more than 30 years. He currently teaches Ocean Law & Policy in Asia and Public International Law. Professor Beckman is an expert on law of the sea, including piracy, maritime security, the South China Sea and the Straits of Malacca and Singapore. He served for several years as a regional resource person in the workshops on Managing Potential Conflicts in the South China Sea and Professor Beckman also lectures

Mr Rodman Bundy, Partner, Eversheds LLP holds a BA in history from Yale University and a JD from the Georgetown University Law Center, Washington, D.C. Since 1984 he has been a partner in the Paris office of Eversheds LLP (which merged with Frere Cholmeley in 1998) specializing in public international law, boundary disputes, oil and gas law and international commercial and investment arbitration. He has acted as Counsel and Advocate for thirty years in numerous public international law matters and arbitrations, most recently on behalf of the Government of Singapore in sovereignty proceedings against Malaysia before the ICJ, the Government of Ukraine in the ICJ maritime delimitation case against Romania, and the Government of Sudan in the Abyei Arbitration. Rodman is also curently engaged in two further ICJ

Mr Chris Carleton, Head of the Law of the Sea Division, United Kingdom Hydrographic Office spent the last ten years of a 30-year career as a hydrographic surveyor in the Royal Navy specialising in the technical aspects of the law of the sea. In 1996 Chris joined the Hydrographic Office to head the newly-formed Law of the Sea Division. His Division provides technical interpretation of all matters relating to the determination and application of maritime zones, boundaries and on the law of the sea issues world-wide to all departments of the UK Government, and on a commercial basis to foreign Governments, law firms, academia and industry. He has taken part in many boundary negotiations, both bilateral and third party adjudication, and has done a considerable amount of work for the United Nations.

Ms Tara Davenport, Research Associate, Centre for International Law, National University of Singapore, holds a Bachelor of Laws from the London School of Economics. She also has a Masters of Law in Maritime Law from the National University of Singapore. She represented Singapore at the 2003 International Maritime Moots. She is a qualified lawyer in Singapore and has spent a large part of her career working as a maritime lawyer in one of Singapore's top shipping law firms. She is presently a Research Associate at the Centre for International Law (CIL) at the National University of Singapore (NUS), where she does research in the area of Ocean Law and Policy, with a specific focus on the maritime disputes in the South China Sea. She will be co-teaching "Ocean Law and Policy" at NUS. She is also an Assistant Editor of the Asian Journal of International Law. She attended the 2010 Rhodes Academy of Oceans Law and Policy and was the winner of the inaugural Rhodes Academy Submarine Cables Award sponsored by ICPC in 2010 for her paper "Submarine Cables: Problems in Law and Practice".

Professor Martin Pratt, Director of Research, International Boundaries Research Unit has two decades' experience advising governments, commercial organisations and NGOs on land and maritime boundary issues around the world. Recent projects in which he has served as a geographical expert include the maritime boundary arbitration between Barbados and Trinidad and Tobago, the Abyei arbitration between northern and southern Sudan, and maritime boundary negotiation in the southwest Indian Ocean. Martin coordinates IBRU's training workshop programme and consultancy activities; he also manages IBRU's website, the Unit's GIS resources and the int-boundaries email list. In 2010 Martin received the Michael Barrett Award of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors for his contribution to boundary studies.
