The evil king Ravana lived in the forest! When he saw Sita, he fell in love with her.

The bird god Jatayu helped attack the flying chariot but was killed by Ravana!

Long ago there was a princess called Sita and a prince called Rama. They were banished to the forest by a jealous queen.

Rama shot Ravana with an arrow and rescued Sita!

Rama and Lakshmana asked for help from the great monkey king Hanuman.

Next Ravana disguised himself as a beggar to trick Sita and captured her in his chariot.

Rama's magical brother Lakshmana joined Sita and Rama in the forest to protect them.

Now free, Sita and Rama wanted to return home. People lit DIYA lamps to help them find their way. This is now celebrated as DIWALI.

Ravana disguised himself as a golden deer to distract Rama and Lakshmana so he could capture Sita.
